

BERGOS AG – PRESS RELEASE

Zurich, 04 January 2023 – The independent Swiss private bank Bergos AG appoints Hans Wöll as Director Private Banking.

Hans Wöll, who was responsible for the Munich branch of Joh. Berenberg, Gossler & Co. KG in Munich since 2007, will advise a select group of clients in his new position at the Zurich-based private bank Bergos.

"I am very pleased," says Dr. Peter Raskin, CEO and Partner of Bergos, "to have won a renowned advisor with many years of experience for us in Hans Wöll. Mr. Wöll will serve us in a special role: Recognizing Wöll's outstanding career, he will be the first new hire to work directly within Bergos Olymp. Bergos Olymp is reserved for particularly experienced and accomplished private bankers who have already enjoyed a long and successful career. Unlike many banks, we recognize that great careers in private banking should be valued and that, for the sake of our clients, their individual needs should be accommodated in our day-to-day business."

Wöll's 25 years of leadership experience in private banking sets him apart, which he will now apply to wealth management and asset management for private, corporate clients and their families. Previously, Wöll was head of private banking at Merck Finck & Co. in the Bavarian metropolis for several years, and later a member of the board of the German private bank's Vermögensbetreuungs AG, before also serving as head of private banking at Bankhaus Hauck Aufhäuser.
